INDEX TO SHORT STORIES

Recommended for story telling in grades 1 to 8 in the Course of Study for the Elementary Schools of Oregon, 1914, pages 44 to 50 inclusive.

This index covers only the books in the State school library list, part I, Books for elementary schools, but includes all books in that list, and books added to the correction sheet for 1915 orders. It is arranged alphabetically by the title of the story, as given in the State course of study, except that stories about a person are entered under his surname. Under each title the entries are given alphabetically by author, with the State list number of the book at the left of the entry. The story will be found on pages noted in the reference. Some very brief versions of the stories are included so that all books in school libraries may be utilized.

The grade for which each story is recommended follows the title. "D" in parentheses following this, shows that it is a story recommended for dramatization. When the same story is found under many different titles, the form in which it is found in any particular book is given in parentheses after the reference. Versions from the folklore of different lands are sometimes included, where the substance is the same as for the story recommended, even though the title and form may differ somewhat.

A dagger (†) before an entry indicates that this particular version of the story is recommended as the best one by Miss Effie L. Power, in her pamphlet List of stories and programs for story hours (published by the H. W. Wilson Company, White Plains, N. Y., at 20c per copy). This pamphlet by Miss Power is the best guide for the story teller, and may be borrowed from the State library, or bought from the publisher.
